THE DELAY OF RUSSIA

ACCENTUATES THE FEELING IN ENGLAND

Commander of Russian Fleet Gives His Version of Attack on Fishing Fleet—Spain Objects to Fleet Coaling at Vigo.

There is an accentuation of feeling in Great Britain over delay of the Russian government in procuring from the commander of the Baltic squadron his version of the attack on the Hull fishing fleet. Reports from all naval stations show tremendous activity exists. This is especially true of Gibraltar, from which place, it is announced, some of the best of Great Britain's war vessels are under orders to proceed in the direction of the Baltic squadron and that all ships of the British channel fleet are ready to go to sea at a moment's notice. Hitherto there has been no indication that a time limit has been set for Russia's reply, but the fact that three battleships and three cruisers are under orders for the morning of Oct. 23 is construed to mean Great Britain will not wait longer than that date before intensifying her sea dogs.

Information has reached the Associated Press from an authoritative source that puts a brighter light upon the situation and insures a satisfactory ending of the incident.

WAR TALK.

London, Oct. 27.—The Mail editorially speaks of war threatening and gives in its headlines "Ultimatum to Russia Expires This Afternoon," etc.

The Telegraph, representing the government view, says: "There is no doubt whatever of the government's seriousness. No responsible ministers would order a fleet to go to sea without the approval of the cabinet, and the government is not prepared to take any step which might be construed as a declaration of war."

RUSSIAN WARSHIPS

Vigo, Spain, Oct. 26.—Arrival of the Russian battleships Emperor Alexander III., Borodino, Orel and Kuznetsov and transport Anatol, which have been anchored in this port, has caused considerable excitement. The commander of the port immediately boarded the Russian flagship and informed Admiral Rojestvensky the Spanish government could not permit the warships to coal within the port. Rojestvensky replied that his vessels needed repairs and that for that reason he had separated from the remainder of his squadron. The commander of the port promised to inform the Spanish government of the admiral's statement and communicate the government's reply as soon as received. In spite of this five German colliers anchored in port alongside the battleships whereupon the commander of the port sent an aide-de-camp to beg Rojestvensky not to violate Spanish neutrality and he also ordered the commanding officer of the Spanish cruiser Estramadura to notify the colliers they must obey the port authorities.

Eventually Rojestvensky promised he would not coal in Spanish waters, at the same time begging the commander of the port to obtain the government's permission for each warship to take on 400 tons of coal with which to reach Tangier. Shortly afterward three colliers sailed for Tangier, two remained alongside the Russian warships.

AN OFFICER'S STORY.

Prince Kerestello, an officer of the battleship Emperor Alexander III., gives the following explanation of the North Sea affair: "The transport Anatol, which was steaming ahead of the squadron, was suddenly surrounded by eight torpedo boats which fired at it. The transport was hit and requested assistance, whereupon the battleship division advanced and signalled to the unknown vessels to leave or disclose their nationality. The vessels refused to obey and advanced among the Russian battleships. Suddenly a cannon shot was heard from an unknown vessel. Then the admiral formed in battle line and replied to the fire, afterward continuing his voyage."

PURELY ACCIDENTAL.

Vigo, Spain, Oct. 26.—The Associated Press has obtained an interview with Admiral Rojestvensky, who expresses great regret over the North Sea incident. The admiral stated the unfortunate occurrence was purely accidental. The weather on the night in question was rather hazy. About 1 a. m. two torpedo boats, which the Russians supposed were Japanese craft, suddenly appeared between the two divisions of the squadron and seemed to discharge torpedoes. The Russians immediately opened fire. They saw no fishermen were not aware any damage had been done. Evidently, the admiral said, the fishermen had shown no lights. The admiral repeated he greatly regretted any injury had been done the fishermen and added he had no doubt the Russian government would make ample compensation.

PUBLIC INFLAMED.

London, Oct. 26.—Tension increases as time passes without definite settlement of the situation created by the Russian blockade in the North Sea. Ambassador Benckendorff's tentative communication to Lansdowne to day and the fact this was regarded as unsatisfactory only served to inflame the public mind. Arrival of Rojestvensky at Vigo and certainty he is in direct communication with his government removes at once the possibility of any delay on account of inability of Russia to get his side of the affair. With this official version before the Russian government, together with the official statement of members of the fishing fleet, it is unlikely the British government will allow another twenty-four hours to pass quietly without receiving a satisfactory reply to the note, which demanded a quick answer. Meanwhile the admiralty is not idle. Reports from all naval stations show tremendous activity exists. This is especially true of Gibraltar, from which place, it is announced, some of the best of Great Britain's war vessels are under orders to proceed in the direction of the Baltic squadron and that all ships of the British channel fleet are ready to go to sea at a moment's notice. Hitherto there has been no indication that a time limit has been set for Russia's reply, but the fact that three battleships and three cruisers are under orders for the morning of Oct. 23 is construed to mean Great Britain will not wait longer than that date before intensifying her sea dogs.

FASTEST MILE EVER PAVED

WONDERFUL PERFORMANCE BY DAN PATCH

Circles Mile Track in One Minute and Fifty-six Seconds—Mark Set by Maud S. Lowered by Major Delmar.

Memphis, Oct. 26.—With a pacemaker carrying a wind shield in front, and accompanied by a runner at the side, Dan Patch, driven by Hersey, paced the fastest mile to day ever made by a horse in harness, circling the track in 1 minute and 56 seconds flat. The former record, 1:56.4, was made by Dan Patch in 1902. Cheers after cheer greeted the performance and Hersey was almost carried from his sulky on his return to the stand.

Another sensational performance was that of Major Delmar when he trotted a mile to a high-wheeled sulky in 2:07 flat, clipping one and three-quarter seconds off the mark set by Maud S. twenty years ago.

Ed Grew, the veteran driver and trainer, was thrown from a sulky. One leg was broken and it is feared that the other is also fractured. He was badly shaken up and owing to his age his condition is believed to be serious.

FROM JAPANESE.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 26.—The semi-official Journal de St. Petersburg has opened a subscription for the families of British fishermen killed by the second Pacific squadron.

The quiet now prevailing at the theatre of war is considered to be only the calm before the storm. There is every indication of resumption of fighting on a large scale, as the proximity of the armies make it impossible for them to much longer defer a battle. It is regarded as certain Kurapatkin is about to undertake an offensive movement. Oyama is reported to be fortifying his whole line south of the Shinko river, showing he is preparing to meet the Russian onset.

In Vecey Aleksei's order announcing Kurapatkin's appointment as commander-in-chief he takes particular pains to inform the soldiers and the world of the marks of imperial confidence reposed in him and to announce he will remain as victorious. The order is considered as virtually his farewell address and that it will soon be followed by his return to St. Petersburg. His elimination as a factor in the military situation has caused a sigh of relief.

FROM JAPANESE.

Osaka Headquarters, Monday, Oct. 24.—The position of the opposing armies is unchanged. Yesterday Russian cavalry drove back Japanese outposts on the extreme left, in turn retreating before a detachment of Japanese cavalry. Desultory artillery fire continued all night and during the night the Japanese were forced to retire.

Stomping the helmets then began and as the Russians advanced a port of land was poured down upon them. The scene was one of horror. The Japanese once attempted to charge. They ran as one man in their trenches, but dropped back under a withering fire. Fighting continued two hours, when the Japanese received reinforcements and the Russians were forced to retire.

"FRISCO KID'S" VAIN TRIP.

Blackback Kicker to Shine President's Shoes Not Only a Headache.

There is sorrow in the heart of Fred Back, the "Frisco Kid," who pursued his leisurely way from San Francisco to Washington with the avowed purpose of putting the finest "shine" on President Roosevelt's boots that ever adorned the footgear of a chief executive, says a Washington dispatch to the New York Telegram.

Through the Influence of Chief Wilkie of the secret service, Fred had an engagement to meet the president.

The "Kid" presented himself at the White House in the way of a contribution from officials, newspaper men and general callers. He carried up about $3 and several souvenirs of his visit to the White House. He was finally informed that the president did not have time for a shine, but would shake his hand and wish him well.

"But I would like to give him a shine," insisted the boy. "If he will only let me rub my polish over his shoes that will stand for a shine."

"Nothing," replied the "Kid" proudly. "I will give him a dollar for the privilege." And the "Kid" counted out his change to that amount.

A SERIOUS CHARGE MADE

BANKER ACCUSED OF IN-CENDIARISM

Mysterious Fire Results in Sensational Developments—Attorney of Accused Man Says He is Victim of Conspiracy

Chicago, Oct. 26.—A mysterious fire at the Chicago Car and Locomotive company's plant at Herkwich, Ill., has become the subject of a many-sided investigation with sensational results. Corporation Counsel Tolman of the city law department to day gave out a statement, which says:

"Evidence shows beyond doubt the fire was of incendiary origin. Testimony of the engineer in charge of the building, together with that of a former superintendent of the company, amounted to a direct charge that Isaac N. Perry, president of the National Bank of North America, had become owner of the property through a sale under bankruptcy proceedings; that he had proceeded to manipulate books and inventories for the purpose of making a largely increased showing as to the value of the plant; that he had ordered insurance, then about $100,000, increased to $200,000; that he had ordered all cars, locomotives and other property of the company stored within the shops; that he had succeeded in obtaining access to the shops alone and unaccompanied upon a Sunday afternoon, and that within an hour thereafter fire had broken out in four of the five buildings and resulted in destruction of two of them."

Continuing, the Tolman statement says: "Perry's attorney claimed that Perry had been the victim of a conspiracy; that it being known he necessarily spent Sunday at this plant the fire was planned to take place at a time when he should be present and all circumstances should be present to connect him with its origin; the attorney also offered to show that an arrangement was practically completed for sale of this plant for a sum larger than the insurance and that $100,000 was deposited in Escrow on account of this contract, and that Perry, therefore, had no motive to commit the crime."

Tolman declines everything, he is going down to ascertain the truth; that no guilty persons shall escape, nor shall innocent persons suffer from unjust accusation.

Perry said this afternoon the charges against him were raised for the purpose of injuring his reputation; that there is absolutely no way in which he could profit by destruction of the property; that the insurance money will go to the company, not to him, and that his interests would best be served by preservation of the property, not by its destruction.

At a late hour to night announcement was made by George M. Reynolds, vice president of the Continental National bank, that his bank had purchased the National Bank of North America, of which Isaac N. Perry is president.

It has been sensibly suggested that one cause of the foolish action of Russian naval commanders is owing to the ignorance which prevails in that country. The common people know almost nothing and those higher up in the scale feel less incentive to educate themselves than they would under different circumstances. No officers of common sense or suitable education in naval and international law would commit such blunders as are laid at the door of the Russian officers and the nation will have to pay dearly for it.

The Democracy is certainly hard to suit. For a good while they denounced Roosevelt for saying so much and they garbled his sayings and writings to make out a bad case against him, and now the latest criticism is that he is keeping so still. One thing is most certain either his silence or his talk is far more eloquent than anything Judge Parker can offer and the manner in which the latter is making himself ridiculous by misstating facts suggests the propriety of lots of silence on his part. But then what can be expected of a man who would make a good president for the same reason that Pyatt's Indian would?

A SINKING CONTRACT.
From 1892 to 1895, inclusive, under a Democratic administration, and a low tariff, the total exports of American manufactures were $624,858,506. From 1900 to 1903, inclusive, under a Republican administration and a protective tariff, they were $1,455,951,840. The export of manufactures in any one year of Republican administration was considerably more than in any two years of Democratic administration.

Must Trust Roosevelt.
[Western Laborer (Omaha).]
In a former issue of this paper we said we must trust Roosevelt and we will trust him and in our judgment every workman, skilled or unskilled, of whatever race or creed, should at once make up his mind to trust him and vote for him instead of indulging in vain regrets that they had not when they saw Parker's "hand." If by chance or fraud he is elected, WE MUST TRUST ROOSEVELT.

Taggart's Prophecies.
A tip to Republicans. Don't be scared by Chairman Taggart's prophecies or claims regarding the political outlook. In 1891, when he was chairman of the Democratic state central committee in Indiana, he claimed the state to have come up to the next election, he predicted it by 10,000 pluralities.

WEDDED SIXTY YEARS AGO

MR. AND MRS. RALPH REYNOLDS CELEBRATE ANNIVERSARY

Children, Grandchildren and Great Grandchildren in Family Reunion—Have Had Many Remarkable Experiences.

Wednesday was the sixtieth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Reynolds, Sr., 1018 West College avenue, so well and favorably known in Jacksonville and Morgan county. Such an event in the history of any family is indeed most remarkable, and it falls to the lot of but few to enjoy such distinction.

Had the experiences of Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds been confined within the limits of one community, the many changes that come with the passing months and years would in themselves have filled the memory to overflowing with the recollections of former times. But when the horizon of life broadens and takes in not only one community but many states, and even three countries, then it becomes readily apparent what a flood of memory must come over Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds as they look back over the years that are gone.

The events in their lives would make a splendid foundation for a most fascinating novel. Thrilling experiences mark their earlier years and well directed ambition led them into new and untrodden paths where, after many vicissitudes and trials, fortune favored them with her smile. It will not be attempted in the narrow confines of a newspaper to relate in detail the story of Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds' lives, but from an interview, to which Mr. Reynolds kindly consented Wednesday afternoon, the following facts were learned.

Mr. Reynolds was born near Liverpool, England, Nov. 25, 1821, and was the son of Ralph Reynolds and Sarah Baby. He was one of a family of four children and his father was educated for a sea captain, but later became a land surveyor. His education had been of the best and in the community where he resided was a pioneer along many lines. This spirit led him in 1839 to come to America, where he settled in Jacksonville, Ill., occupying the brick house which has since become the west end of the home of Mrs. L. L. Morrison on Grove street.

In 1841 Mr. Reynolds, Sr., and the subject of this sketch, took the contract for building the Northern Cross railroad (a road built by the state of Illinois from Naples to Jacksonville and since known as the Wash-bash road). The cars were originally drawn by mules. Shortly after the completion of the road (Oct. 26, 1844) Mr. Reynolds was married to Miss Ellen Perry Rout, a native of Southampton, England and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Rout, who resided on a farm near Lynnville. Soon after his marriage, in company with his father, Mr. Reynolds went into Canada to bid on contracts for some public work, but failing to have their bid accepted, they came back into the states and settled in Dubuque, Iowa, where they engaged in the lead mining business and were very successful.

ACROSS THE PLAINS.
In 1849, at the time of the gold excitement in California, Mr. Reynolds' father was elected captain of a company known as the Dubuque & Galena Mining and Exploring company. The company got together fifty-two wagons, well equipped with supplies and drawn by oxen, and set out across the plains, being seven months on the way from Iowa to California. During this time not a day passed but what brought some new and many times dangerous experiences. They camped on the present site of the city of Omaha, where they were surrounded by over a thousand Sioux Indians. Upon reaching the sink of the Humboldt river a contention arose in the ranks of the party as to which of two routes was the best to pursue, the Trochee and the Carson river route. The company was rapidly being torn with dissension regarding the best course to follow, and Mr. Reynolds seeing that prompt action was necessary, ordered his son to take his wagon and start on the Carson river route, getting as many of the company as possible to follow his lead. All of the fifty-two wagons except eight followed the Carson river route. Eight wagons took the other course and none of them ever reached the coast. While at the sink of the Humboldt river, amid trying surroundings, Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds' third child was born and they named him Humboldt in honor of the place of his nativity.

When the Missouri river was reached the wagons and oxen had to be floated across the stream on rafts constructed for that purpose. This was a hazardous undertaking, as the river was filled with whirlpools and several lost their lives while the river was being forded.

ON THE DESERT.
After getting across the Missouri River a desert of forty miles lay before them, and Mr. Reynolds and his father crossed on foot and then came back and took over the teams of oxen in party following. Soon after they had crossed this desert a gentleman from St. Louis, who was a gentleman of the name of Taggart, came to them and offered them a large sum of money to go with him to California. Mr. Reynolds and his father refused the offer and continued on their way.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Do the voters prefer to stake their ballots on promises or on records?

The venerable Mr. Davis and his barrel are a source of considerable availing concern among the Democratic campaign leaders these days.

If the Democratic spellbinders will confess that their chief desire for success is founded on anxiety to get their hands on the spoils their speeches will ring with a sincerity that is now painfully lacking.

A review of the labor record of the Republican majorities in the last two general assemblies should be sufficient argument to swing every voter in the state of Illinois into line for Roosevelt and Deeney.

If Tom Taggart does not soon cease his repeated avowals that no friction exists at the national Democratic headquarters he will interest some one sufficiently to bring about an investigation as to what is the real source of trouble there.

If some Democrat were to advance some new principle of government or evolve some new policy of statesmanship instead of wasting his time planning renewed attacks upon Republican statescraft would he be granted respectful consideration by his own party?

Republicans in districts wherein state senators are elected this fall must not overlook the necessity of making that choice Republican. State senators elected this time have a vote on the selection of a United States senator in 1907, and that choice, too, must be a Republican.

Larry Stringer et al, must find small comfort in the visit of National Chairman Taggart to this state. Chairman Taggart's declaration that the Illinois committee must "show the goods" before he opened his pursestrings left the state ticket in a bad way, in the matter of financial support.

"Deeds, not words, count." This was the keynote of State's Attorney Deeney's recent address at Carbon-dale. In simple, but forceful, language, Mr. Deeney showed his hearers how tactful are the Democrats when out of power, but how woefully impotent of the initiative are they when power is thrust upon them.

One of the silliest fictions of the campaign up to the present time is the story persistently circulated by Democratic leaders that Hon. Charles S. Deeney is an unnaturalized Canadian. The people of Madison county, where Mr. Deeney was born, are indignant over the fabrication. The candidate's father was born in St. Clair county and his great-grandfather, although a native of Delaware, came to Illinois in the state's pioneer days.

H. Clay Wilson of Springfield, Ill., has conceived a plan by which American people can be educated in politics and matters of government through a school of instruction. If Mr. Wilson's school educates the people up to a sufficiently high standard there will some day be none but Republicans in the country. As his school is aimed to teach the true and correct principles of government, it seems safe to assert that the Democrats will be opposed to its existence.

Our Special Dress Goods Items

For this week are merely mentioned here to illustrate the very important fact that our prices are lower than elsewhere for similar qualities and styles—that's why we sell more dress goods than any other store—the closest comparison proves it.
All-wool Broadcloths in the new 58-inch Rain Proof Suitings in brown, tan, grey, greens, royal, the new brown and tan mixtures, navy, cardinal, wine, etc.—special value for $1.00 yard.
58-inch Rain Proof Suitings in the new brown and tan mixtures. Just the thing for skirts and coats. $1.25 yard.
50-inch All-wool Suitings in all the new popular shades. Per yard, 50c.

The sacrifice of a goodly portion of the usual profits demanded by others is our way of keeping things constantly moving. By keeping it moving we are enabled to renew it frequently. So you will always find a clear, fresh assortment of Furniture, Carpets, Draperies and Rugs here. No old shopworn goods that show their unpopularity. No articles that give the store a back number appearance. But just the kind of things you want to see in a first-class Furniture Store. Isn't there something here you ought to have?

Ladies' Desk, just the thing for the young lady attending school. One like out $5.50.
Side Boards. Our line of Sideboards is very complete. We have them ranging in price from $15.00 to $45.00. All the latest patterns.
If you are crowded for room and need another bed, look over our assortment of folding beds (space savers). We have them from $14 to $39.

If you have not been in our store lately you should call and see the fine showing of new things for the fall and holiday trade. No trouble to show goods.

HEART TO HEART TALKS

A Few Words on a Fragrant Subject for Jacksonville Men

Smoke?

Well, then, smoke a good cigar. Smoke a Wadsworth Bros' Cigars, a straight 5c cigar that has more real pleasure and enjoyment beneath its rich brown wrapper than the average "ten cent."

Leading business and professional men all over the country have a box of Wadsworth Bros' Cigars right at hand to treat their friends and customers. They would not do this unless the cigar was just what it is—all long Havana filler, burning evenly with a long, white ash.

Armstrong & Armstrong have the local agency for Wadsworth Bros' Cigars and say they never before had a cigar in their stock that gave such universal satisfaction. Try one and you will thank them for introducing it in Jacksonville.

RAILROAD NEWS NOTES

Alton Limited Photographed—Items of Local Interest.

E. L. Wright, traveling passenger agent for the Burlington, was transacting business in the city Wednesday.

The Wabash passenger, which is due here at 3:15 p. m., was one hour late Wednesday on account of having to wait at Markham for the Fairbanks special.

Ben H. Helm, division freight agent for the C. & A., at Bloomington, was in the city Wednesday.

G. Keith, auditor for the C. & A., departed for Chicago yesterday.

Robert Duncan, the venerable gate-man at the North Main street crossing of the Wabash, Wednesday recalled the fact that last Sunday closed his fifth year at that crossing. He is now in his thirty-seventh year of service for the road, having worked on the section at Chapin thirty-two years before coming to this city five years ago. In his younger days he was a man of powerful frame and in the first few days of his work for the road surprised the older men by carrying alone the large ties which it was customary for four men to assist one another in placing.

C. P. Brown, an extra brakeman from Decatur, went through on No. 9 yesterday for Brakeman Bentley, who took a lay-off.

E. L. Walsh, who is employed with the Wabash railroad at Springfield, is here to attend the funeral of James Haley.

Orders were issued yesterday to paint the Alton's wrecking derrick and give it a complete overhauling so that it would be in first class condition for winter. The big machine has been growing rusty for lack of usage.

Alton engineers have been notified not to take water at Girard Junction, as the tank there is the property of the M. C. road and not of the Alton.

Both sections of the Alton Limited were photographed while they stood in the yards at Brighton Park early Tuesday morning. The regular engines and crews were in charge while the company photographer, Mr. Jackson, took a snap shot of both sections. These pictures will be used for advertising purposes. The second section, which is composed largely of Pullmans, is made up daily in eastern style. The Pullmans are at the head of the train and the chair cars and smoker at the rear. The buffet car, which is especially for men, is next the engine. The parlor cars and diner follow.

Seat sale for the "Liberty Bells" opens Friday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Wyatt and daughter, Miss Maude, of Winfield, Kans., are guests of W. S. Wyatt, Mrs. M. M. Harney and other relatives in this city and vicinity.

AN ACT OF HEROISM

Tuesday, as local train 70 on the Wabash railroad, in charge of Conductor George H. Knox, was approaching the city from the west and near the city limits, running at a moderate rate of speed, by some cause unknown, the train parted in three sections. The first consisting of the engine and six cars, the second of four cars and the last with cabooses and eight cars. The track at this point is down grade for a mile or more into the yards at Jacksonville, which at this time was crowded with cars and a passenger train was due at the junction. Brakeman W. P. Faulk was on top of the first part of the train referred to, and the four cars were running wild. The last section could be controlled from the brakes on the cabooses and rear cars.

Mr. Faulk took in the situation at once and by that presence of mind so rare signalled the engineer to pull away from the four cars, now running fast and gaining speed at every revolution of the wheels, jumped from his own section of the train at risk of his life; but nothing daunted, made a dash for the four wild cars, caught the ladder on one of them, mounted to the top, applied the hand brakes and stopped the runaways within a short distance of the first section in charge of the engineer, who could go no farther for fear of a collision with the passenger train or yard engine.

The rear end of the train being now under control the several sections were re-coupled and all side tracked to clear for the fast passenger train, No. 9.

Such acts are of no common occurrence and even overalls and dirt cannot hide the man and that spirit of faithfulness to duty which shines in this instance. This man might have jumped off his section of the train and allowed the four cars to run down the grade, crashing into the forward cars, thereby causing an expensive wreck, if not the loss of life. But no, he saw room at the top of those box cars and there is room at the top for such men as he, and railway officials are not slow to appreciate such service, even at the hands of unassuming employees.

ELECTION FORECAST

Congressman Grosvenor Issues Statement—Party Profit Give Roosevelt 314 Votes.

Athens, Ohio, Oct. 26.—C. H. Grosvenor has given out his figures on the election. He says he presents the forecast more from force of habit than because he believes it will interest the public.

After some preliminary remarks he says: "I predict that Roosevelt and Fairbanks, in the group of New England states, will receive 41 votes. In New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware and West Virginia they will have 95 electoral votes. Crossing the Ohio river they will receive the solid vote of the five great states of the Northwest Territory—Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin—92 votes.

"They will carry Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska, South Dakota, North Dakota and Minnesota—50 votes.

"They will carry Washington, Oregon, California, Nevada, Idaho, Wyoming, Utah and Colorado—36 votes. "Here is an aggregate of 314 votes.

WHAT PARKER GETS. "Judge Parker will have the electoral votes of the following states: Virginia, North and South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas, Arkansas, Missouri, Tennessee, Kentucky, with 151 electoral votes.

"I class Montana, with three votes, and Maryland, with eight votes, as doubtful, but I believe the chances are decidedly in favor of Parker in both.

"If I were to indicate where my faith is weakest in the Roosevelt table of votes I would name Nevada and Colorado, eight votes.

"I do not believe the vote for Roosevelt and Fairbanks will fall below 300.

"I do not estimate the house of representatives in detail. There is no reason to doubt that it will follow the presidential victory. It has practically always done so, and there is no reason why it should not do so now. There will be a good working Republican majority in that body."

WERE BOYS TOGETHER.

John Sager, of Roodhouse, was in the city Wednesday to attend the Fairbanks meeting. Mr. Sager went to school with Senator Fairbanks in Unionville Center, Ohio, thirty-five years ago and they had not seen one another since their boyhood days. When this fact was known Mr. Sager was invited to the speaker's platform and before the distinguished candidate was introduced had a few moments' talk with him. Later he held a short conversation with him on his train. Mr. Sager runs on the Alton out of Roodhouse as express messenger for the United States Express company.

ANNOUNCEMENT

We present herewith a list of the talent to be heard this winter on the Illinois College Lecture Course, which we are sure cannot fail to attract your admiration and patronage. We are not only paying more for our attractions and have a much better course than has been in Jacksonville before, but by actual comparison with the courses offered in other cities this year we find that we have a much stronger course than is offered in any city of twice the size of our own. We have not striven for a long course, but have preferred rather to sacrifice quantity to quality and so far as we have been able to gather from all sources there is not a weak spot in the entire series of five entertainments. It is therefore with perfect confidence that we say that those who don't secure season tickets to this course will have reason to regret their not having done so in the near future.

Indian Government Band.

Nov. 1.—The Government Official Indian Band. This is the band that attracted universal attention and applause at the world's fair. The government has encouraged the study of music in the Indian schools and this band was selected from the best musicians of each of the Indian schools. The result is the greatest band of Indian musicians in the world; a band that compares favorably with any of the other of the famous bands in the interpretation of the music of the masters, and far exceeds in the weird compositions of its own people. They play with a rhythm and beauty that hold their auditors spellbound. The Sixophone quartet with the band has been unusually pleasing to the public in the places where the band has been touring this month.

Wesleyans and Miss Boynton

Dec. 8.—The Wesleyans and Miss Boynton. The management has heard this quartet under conditions which made it possible to compare it with the leading quartets of the country, and it is the verdict, not only of the management, but of all who have heard this quartet that it is far superior to any similar organization in the field of lyceum work. The ensemble work of this quartet is perfect and in individual training we can conscientiously say it is the best male quartet obtainable.

Miss Boynton has been before the public as a professional reader for four seasons, and has delighted her audiences with her superb readings. The natural and dramatic are most happily blended in all her work, while humor has most genuine treatment and becomes a marked feature of her charming delineations. Her naturalness has not been marred by artistic study for her art is real and true to nature.

Dr. N. D. Hillis.

Jan. 18.—Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis, Dr. Hillis, the successor of Henry Ward Beecher, is well known to the people of Jacksonville. The doctor has only one date in Illinois this year and the management congratulates itself on securing him for Jan. 18. His books attract more attention of the thoughtful reader than any other author. He is a gifted orator, a rapid speaker and is one of the wittiest men on the American platform. He is a genius and with difficulty can be characterized. One feels after hearing him and having been caught up in the sweep and rapture of his sentences much as he does when listening to a symphony or an oratorio. It can be felt and enjoyed, but not described. He is one of America's best orators. Don't fail to hear the doctor.

Prof. John B. DeMotte.

Feb. 17.—Prof. John B. DeMotte in his illustrated lectures needs no introduction to many Jacksonville people, who have been delighted with his lectures here in the past.

Professor DeMotte is one of the greatest lecturers in the country to day. He has had more engagements during the last two years than any other prominent lecturer. He has been booked in all the great Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. courses in this country; there is scarcely a prominent course in Pennsylvania that he has not been before in the most famous times. Philadelphia Lecture Building.

Crampton Company.

March 21.—The George Crampton Company is a company of soloists whose merit is unquestionable. The company is composed of Mr. Crampton (basso-cantante), Madame Alice Myron (contralto), Mrs. Blanche Sage Holcomb (piano), and Udo Gossweiler (cellist). The reputation of these soloists is international and the program which they are to present here is one that will be recognized by music lovers as both classical and pleasing.

Jacksonville, Ill., Sept. 26, 1902.—Nearly three years ago, with a second attack of serious illness, I was surprised to learn that I had diabetes. Providentially I was led to procure a bottle of Dr. E. W. Hall's Specific for Kidney and Bladder Troubles known as A TEXAS WONDER. Less than half of the $1 bottle effected a complete and permanent cure. Consequently I believe it to be a medicine of very great value. L. B. Kent, Quinsiguit.

A Sure Sign.

Now we know that David B. Hill intends to quit politics next January, for he has disclaimed calling President Roosevelt "a fraud." That a little innocuous thing like that when he has exhausted the vocabulary of vituperation upon the Republican half of the American people for "rich on 40 years" is surely a sign that David is setting his house in order and wants to depart political life at peace with all men.

"Sow a character and you reap a destiny" was one of the beautiful but meaningless apothegms flung into the lap of Judge Parker by Editor Knapp, of the St. Louis Republic, at introduction of his Democratic brethren of the shears and paste pot to their candidate. With about equal relevancy and more wit he might have said "Plant a corpse and raise a tombstone."

During the last Democratic administration the government borrowed hundreds of millions of dollars during a time of profound peace, to pay our road expenses. During the McKinley administration it procured a foreign war to a successful conclusion without borrowing a cent and since the war closed all of the war taxes have been removed.

The Democratic party has been fatally wrong on every phase of the money question from the resumption of specie payments after the war to the establishment of the gold standard, both of which it opposed. It is constitutionally unfit to deal with financial questions.

Turks and Russians.

Turks and Russians is a game played by two persons with slate and pencil. About a quarter of the slate is marked off by a line at each end, and in each of the compartments so marked off are made a number of dots about the size of a pin head, those at one end representing Turks and the others Russians. The number of Turks and Russians may be large or small, as agreed on, but must be equal. At one end of each compartment is a small square, which serves as a battery. Each player in turn places the point of his pencil in his own battery and then draws a line quickly in the direction of his enemy's men. The line must have no angles in it, but must be straight or curved. Those dots through which the line passes are considered dead men, and he who first kills all of the enemy's men is the winner. Sometimes the players are required to shut their eyes or turn away their heads when drawing their lines.

MATRIMONIAL

SAMPLE-HUGHES.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Shepherd, at Pisgah, occurred the wedding of Elmer O. Sample and Ruth E. Hughes in the presence of relatives and a few intimate friends. The house was most tastefully decorated with chrysanthemums and autumn leaves.

The bride, who wore a most tasteful gown of white, was preceded by four children carrying ropes of chrysanthemums. The groom met the bride in the east room, where the ceremony was performed by Rev. A. B. Morey in front of a beautiful bank of white chrysanthemums. After hearty congratulations all were invited to the dining room, where substantial refreshments were served.

The high esteem in which both the bride and groom are held was shown in the large number of valuable gifts which they received.

Mrs. Sample has made her home with Mr. and Mrs. Shepherd for several years. The groom is the only son of E. T. Sample, one of the enterprising farmers of Pisgah.

MCINNIS-RALEIGH.

John McGinnis and Miss Elizabeth Raleigh, both well known young people of this city, were united in marriage at the Church of Our Savior Wednesday morning at 8 o'clock. Very Rev. Dean Crowe officiating.

The bridesmaid was Miss Catherine Burke and the groom was supported by Cornelius Harrigan.

The bride was attired in a handsome traveling suit of blue broadcloth with hat to match, while the bridesmaid wore a beautiful gown of nun's veiling, trimmed in cream applique with a hat to match.

The ceremony was a beautiful and impressive one. As the bridal party entered the church Prof. B. H. Wortmann played the music of the wedding march from Lohengrin, and during the nuptial mass the following numbers were rendered on the organ: Andante from Sonata... Beethoven Melody... Guilmant Prayer (Elevation)... Guilmant Recessional... Guilmant

AT THE GRAND.

The Dodge-Bowman company closed their three nights' engagement at the Grand last evening. The bill was comprised of illustrated stereoscopic views and polite vaudeville. The east was all that could be desired and the specialties were well received. The views were mostly of the comical type and kept the large audience in a state of continuous laughter and applause. The company has a number of very capable artists and they have given eminent satisfaction to local theatre patrons.

WEDDED SIXTY YEARS

came riding into their camp on horseback and said that a party was on the way across the desert and their tents had given out. He stated he had plenty of money and many valuables in his wagon, and that if Captain Reynolds would get them safely across the desert he would pay them liberally for the assistance. Captain Reynolds deputized his son to take four yoke of oxen and start back for the party in distress. The latter brought them through safely, and although he was offered a handsome remuneration, gave the service gratuitously. A little further on the party had two oxen stolen and Mr. Reynolds and two of the party started in pursuit, as they could trace the path of the thieves by the footprints of the oxen. The dread of the Indians led them to turn back after a short pursuit, and Mr. Reynolds said he had often felt that it was well the pursuit was not carried further. Other experiences of the trip might be related, but space will not permit. They arrived in fairly good condition at Hangtown, Cal., a place that was noted for its desperate characters, and had been named because of the summary treatment administered to thieves. Captain Reynolds disliked the name so much that he finally induced the people to change it to Placerville.

RELIEF EXPEDITION
In 1851 word came to the settlement that thousands were starving to death on the plains. Mr. Reynolds therefore rigged up a big wagon load of supplies and with four yoke of oxen and two hired men, John Spears and James Crozier, started out to relieve the distressed travelers. They had not gone far until Mr. Reynolds met a man he had known well in Dubuque. He found him gnawing savagely at a piece of mule meat, and ravenous with hunger. He soon relieved his suffering and was the means of saving his friend's life. When he arrived at the camp of the distressed travelers he found he was none too soon, and readily disposed of all his provisions and sold even the oxen, which were killed for food. In cases of this kind it was the practice to take reasonable pay for service rendered when the parties were well supplied with means, and in this case the destitute travelers had plenty of means but no opportunity of purchasing provisions. They were therefore very willing to pay for the supplies that had been brought them and Mr. Reynolds made over $2,000 out of the trip.

Upon his return to Placerville Mr. Reynolds made the acquaintance of a gentleman engaged in buying gold dust. He kept a small store, but his knowledge of the business was so meager that he frequently made bad purchases and a trade was finally agreed upon and Mr. Reynolds bought him out. While he was in this business he sent his purchases of gold to the mints in San Francisco and Philadelphia and some of the gold he had coined in London.

After a few years in this business his health began to fail and he sold out to J. M. Douglass, an old friend who had drifted west from Dubuque, and having "gone broke" was keeping bar in the hotel where Mr. Reynolds was stopping. Surprised to find his friend so reduced in circumstances he enabled him to form a partnership in a grocery store and when he was about to leave the coast Mr. Douglass had regained his fortune sufficiently to purchase the gold dust business from Mr. Reynolds. He could not pay cash for the store, but gave his note in part payment of the purchase price.

BACK TO ENGLAND.

In 1855 Mr. Reynolds sailed from San Francisco for England, crossing the Isthmus of Panama, which in those days was a dangerous trip.

During all this time Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds and the former's father had been together, but the companionship was broken ten days after their arrival in England, where his father died.

Mr. Reynolds resided in England for six years, although in 1856 he crossed the water and came to New York, where he met Mr. Douglass by appointment, who paid off the note he had given him a year before.

In passing it will be interesting to mention that Mr. Douglass died in California about two years ago, leaving an estate worth $1,700,000. Two nephews were educated in this city and the estate passed to them, as Mr. Douglass had no children.

Leaving England in 1861, Mr. Reynolds came direct to Jacksonville again and settled on a farm west of the city, where he lived for four years. In 1866 he purchased his present home, where he has resided for thirty-eight years.

After his removal to the city he became interested extensively in real estate in Jacksonville and Chicago. He was in business in Chicago for just thirteen months and his biggest trade was made with the late Carter Harrison, father of the present mayor, and during the thirteen months he made a net profit of $38,000.

Mr. Reynolds was at one time president of the town board of Jacksonville and his associates on the board were the late Messrs. Wolcott, Ketcham, Lorton and Howard. While he was president he was instrumental in securing for the city a charter, and also in extending the corporate lines one-quarter of a mile on the west and south.

Mr. Reynolds is also known as the founder of Diamond Grove cemetery, as the purchase was made when he was president of the board.

Mr. Reynolds was one of the three executors of the John T. Alexander estate, M. P. Ayers and William T. Beckman being associated with him. In this capacity he became the manager of the farm lands known as Broadlands, in Champaign county, which amounted to 26,000 acres. As manager of the Broadlands he did a large cattle business and would ship at times as high as three train loads of stock to the Buffalo and New York markets. The commissions from settling the Alexander estate amounted to $90,000.

Mr. Reynolds was a great friend of Newton Bateman and a fast friendship also grew up between himself and Governor Duane, who enjoyed going hunting with the "young Englishman," as he used to speak of him, and who gained his confidence to a remarkable degree.

RICHARD COBLEN.

Mr. Reynolds had the honor of entertaining at his farm on the Mount Richard Cobden, the great English free trade advocate. Mr. Cobden was in this country at the time representing a company of English capitalists who had several hundred thousand dollars invested in the Wabash railroad.

Although past four score years of age, Mr. Reynolds has always led an active life, and while in recent years he has given more time to the enjoyment of the quiet of his home, nevertheless he still has large interests which he directs and manages with the same success that characterized the earlier dealings of his life. Mr. Reynolds has been an extensive traveler in his lifetime and has crossed the Atlantic ocean nine times.

Mr. Reynolds has for a number of years been identified with the First Baptist church of this city and is one of the prominent members of the organization.

Always fond of reading, Mr. Reynolds possesses a mind that is well stored with a knowledge that is enjoyed by but few and his fund of information combined with a retentive memory makes him a friend and companion whose company is always enjoyed.

During their long life together Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds have been helpmates to one another in the true sense and in the evening of their days they have enjoyed the loving and affectionate ministrations of devoted children.

Mr. Reynolds stated that he had had one principle in life before all others and that was to think a thing over thoroughly and carefully and when prepared to act, act with all the energy and zeal of which his nature was capable.

Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds are the parents of eight children: Thomas C. of this county; Mrs. William Beecraft, of Millersburg, Ky.; Mrs. Martha Rice, of this county; Mrs. Elizabeth Stevenson, of Omaha, Neb.; Miss Emma Reynolds, of Jacksonville; Ralph Reynolds, Jr., residing southeast of the city; Richard C. Reynolds, of Jacksonville, and Charles W. Reynolds, of Indianapolis, Ind. Seventeen grandchildren: Mrs. Ellen Hombrough, Mrs. James B. Wood and Edward J. Reynolds, all of Morgan county; John G. M. Reynolds of Jacksonville; Reynolds Beecraft of Millersburg, Ky.; Homer Beecraft of Millersburg, Ky.; James G. Rice and Clarence L. Rice of Morgan county; Helen Stevenson of Omaha, Neb.; Ralph H. Everett, Merle, Homer, Howard and Francis Reynolds all of Jacksonville, and Miss Dorothy Ellen Reynolds of Indianapolis, Ind.; and six great grandchildren, Lloyd, Richard and Ruth Reynolds of Jacksonville, Wallace Hembrough of Morgan county, Ralph Hunter Beecraft of Millersburg, Ky., and Anna Bernice Rice of Morgan county.

At the Reynolds home Wednesday evening a family reunion was held, which was indeed a most delightful gathering. It will be recalled as an occasion of great pleasure and the recollection of it will always be clear and vivid. All of the children and grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds were present except Reynolds Beecraft, of Millersburg, Ky., and Helen Stevenson, of Omaha, Neb.
